Subject: Literature searches.

Dear Anne:

It's that time of year again when I've got to get back to the books regarding projects that I'm involved in. In that regard I'm respectfully requesting two literature searches.

The first deals with Stumpy Lake—a former water supply to Virginia Beach and Norfolk, VA that has been continually downgraded (first to an emergency reservoir and now to just as an open water-oriented “natural area”). Although addressed in Virginia Beach, the Lake (and contributing watershed) straddle the Virginia Beach-City of Chesapeake boundary. The Lake discharges into the North Landing River and Gum Swamp located downstream.

Ex. 5 - Deliberative Process A project called “Tri-Cities Properties, LLC” (aka “Centerville Properties Development”) is the catalyst for this search.

The second search deals primarily with soil development.

Thanks a lot! If you need to prioritize, the Stumpy Lake search is the most pressing.

Thanks again,

Best regards,

Charlie
